

Central Asia Optical Cable Distribution Box Supplier

Article Overview

Key suppliers of optical cable distribution boxes in Central Asia include MINXLINK, Optictelecom, and Chinese manufacturers such as Glory Optical Communication and Zhejiang GuangFan Communications Technology.

MINXLINK

MINXLINK is a professional supplier of optical modules, network switches, fiber patch cords, OLT/ONU equipment, and data center solutions across Central Asia, including Kazakhstan and Uzbekistan. They provide project-based support, local stock for urgent deliveries, and after-sales services. While primarily focused on optical modules and network infrastructure, they also supply fiber connectivity solutions suitable for distribution box integration and PON networks .

Optictelecom

Operating in Kazakhstan since 2003, Optictelecom partners with major local telecom providers such as Kazakhtelecom, KazTransCom, and KCELL. They supply optical cables, accessories, couplings, and testing instruments, and can manage large-scale fiber optic projects up to 3,000 km. Optictelecom also offers design, construction, and maintenance services for fiber optic networks, making them a key regional provider for optical cable distribution infrastructure .
