

Ethiopia Mobile Power Distribution Box Company

Article Overview

Ethiopia has several companies supplying mobile and low-voltage power distribution boxes, including SIGMA Engineering, Alphapower Electrical Technology, Keming Electrical, DGG, and Atlas Copco Ethiopia.

Key Companies and Offerings

SIGMA Engineering PLC is part of the Sigma Electric PLC Group, a multidisciplinary electro-mechanical engineering company established in Ethiopia in 1999. They provide a range of electrical engineering solutions, including power distribution systems suitable for industrial and commercial applications (Sigma Engineering PLC), . Alphapower Electrical Technology specializes in designing and manufacturing high-quality electrical components, including fuse boxes and distribution panels. Their products cater to residential, commercial, and industrial sectors, ensuring reliable energy distribution (Alphapower Electrical Technology), . Keming Electrical focuses on energy meter boxes and low-voltage power distribution solutions. Their products are engineered to meet Ethiopia's growing power infrastructure needs, supporting urban expansion, industrial parks, and off-grid solar systems. They provide standardized, durable energy meter boxes and distribution cabinets for residential complexes, industrial parks like Hawassa Industrial Park, and rural electrification projects (Keming Electrical), . DGG offers customized power distribution and smart grid solutions. They supply distribution boxes, lightning arresters, and other equipment for power renovation and upgrading projects in Ethiopian towns. Their solutions are tailored to enhance reliability, efficiency, and performance in both urban and rural p...
