

Flame-retardant server racks in Cambodia

Article Overview

Fireproof server racks with integrated clean agent suppression systems like FM-200 or Novec 1230 are the recommended solution for protecting IT infrastructure in Cambodia.

Fireproof Server Cabinets

Fireproof server cabinets are designed to withstand high heat and contain fires, providing critical protection for sensitive IT equipment. These cabinets are constructed from fire-resistant metals and insulating materials, capable of protecting contents for 30 minutes to several hours, depending on the rating. Look for cabinets compliant with UL 72 or EN 1047-2 standards, which ensure tested fire resistance and reliability. Fireproof cabinets also support cooling and cable management systems without compromising safety, making them suitable for modern data centers and telecom rooms .

Fire Suppression Systems

For active fire protection, server racks can be equipped with automatic clean agent fire suppression systems. Common options include:

- FM-200: Fast-acting, non-conductive, and residue-free, suitable for occupied server rooms.
- Novec 1230: Low-GWP, safe for people, and environmentally friendly, providing ra...
