

How to buy a photovoltaic distribution box

Article Overview

You can purchase photovoltaic distribution boxes from online marketplaces, specialized manufacturers, and solar equipment suppliers, with options for residential and commercial systems.

Online Retailers

- Amazon offers a variety of solar distribution boxes, including PV combiner boxes with DC and AC circuit breakers and surge protection, suitable for 8–10 kW solar inverter systems. Each product page provides additional buying options and specifications for different system sizes (Amazon.com) .

Specialized Manufacturers

- Moreday provides the MDX-200 PV Grid-Connected Distribution Box, designed for 8–50 kW systems. It features surge protection, miniature circuit breakers, and a rugged stainless steel housing suitable for outdoor environments. Moreday products are internationally certified (CE, CQC, ROHS) and are ideal for both residential and large-scale industrial solar projects (Moreday.com) .
- LEIDUN manufactures photovoltaic distribution boards with IP65-rated enclosures, corrosion-resistant stainless steel, and integrated safety devices like surge protectors and circuit breakers. They offer OEM/ODM services and ship globally, making them suitable for customized solar installations (Made-in-China.com)
