

Price of 5x60 cable trays

Article Overview

The price of a 5-foot long, 6-inch wide cable tray ranges from approximately $30 to $67 depending on the supplier and material.

For a 5-foot long, 6-inch wide wire mesh cable tray, Kable Kontrol offers a zinc-plated steel tray priced at $30.29 on Zoro and similar listings on Amazon . These trays are NEC approved, suitable for network, AV systems, fiber optics, and general cabling, and feature a chrome finish with electro-zinc resistance for corrosion protection . Other suppliers, such as Cabetiesandmore, offer 5-foot trays in various widths and finishes starting around $26.55, depending on the material and coating . Prices can vary based on material type (galvanized steel, stainless steel, or aluminum), finish, and supplier.

Additional Considerations

- Installation Accessories: Brackets, splice couplers, and ceiling hangers may be required, adding to the total cost .
- Bulk Orders: Some suppliers may offer discounts for larger quantities.
- Material Choice: Stainless steel trays are more expensive but offer higher corrosion resistance, while zinc-plated steel is more budget-friendly.
- Availability: Prices are subject to change and may vary by location and stock levels. For a 5x60 cable tray, you can expect a price range of $30-$70 per section, with additional costs for installation hardware if needed .
