

Repairing electrical distribution boxes in Singapore

Article Overview

Repairing or upgrading a DB box in Singapore requires a licensed electrician to ensure safety, compliance, and reliable power distribution.

Understanding the DB Box

A distribution board (DB box) is the central hub where electricity from SP Group enters your home and is split into multiple circuits for lights, sockets, air conditioning, water heaters, and other appliances . It also protects your home from electrical hazards using MCBs (miniature circuit breakers), RCCBs, or RCBOs that prevent overloads, short circuits, and electric shocks . In HDB flats, it is usually located near the main entrance, while in landed homes, it may be near the car porch or service yard .

Common Issues Requiring Repair

Signs that your DB box may need attention include:

- Frequent power trips or circuit breaker trips
- Outdated or overloaded components
- Visible wear and tear or corrosion
- Electrical surges damaging appliances
- Faulty RCCBs or MCBs failing to cut power during leakage...
